Federal Communications Commission
Washington, DC

Ref: 04-233 PROCEEDING

In regards to this proposed change in legislation, please be advised that my family and I are avid listeners to K-LOVE Radio. KKLU in Lubbock, Texas, is a big part of our lives: for me, my wife Kim, my daughter, Jordan-age 13, and my son, Joshua-age 10.

The proposed rule changes that require community advisory boards, additional staffing at each station, and the reduction of translator stations would have a devastating effect on what listen to here in Lubbock, Texas.

Our family enjoys the right to have a Christian station in our area that is funded by us. Our market is required to help the station STAY ON THE AIR by making contributions. Because of that, the proposed rule changes could eliminate this station from our market.

The FCC should be an ally to the public in helping to reduce the amount of rules and complicated changes to allow for more freedom of speech over the airwaves. By enforcing these proposed changes, the Commission is really going to impact radio as we know it.

The FCC was created by the people FOR the people. It's continued support of freedom of religion and speech over the air should be first and foremost.

Thank you for your consideration on keeping radio free and alive in our area.
